Centrecare is a unique resource in the knowledge of how human beings think, feel and behave in the world today. It is an organisation which brings together a highly talented team of people in a way other service providers are simply not able to. Because of this, your services will be provided by professionals who have a wide and diverse range of clinical and counselling interests. Some members of Centrecare staff have internationally recognised skills. Others are recognised experts called upon to train other experts. It is these same skills and expertise which are available to specifically design, package and deliver programs to help in the growth of your organisation. Or to deliver services from Centrecare's existing range of programs. Either way, you can be confident in the knowledge that the people associated with your organisation are in good hands.

EFFECTS
AND SUCCESSFUL
OUTCOMES
FOR GROWTH
AND DEVELOPMENT

Part of Centrecare's mission is to provide people with skills to help them realise their life potential. To ensure success, Centrecare has a high calibre administrative team which monitors and reports the results of programs on a regular basis to our professionals, board members, stakeholders and client organisations. We know that if we are successful, we're also helping you achieve your goals; and this is important to us. Only through the stringent monitoring of our work can Centrecare develop and improve existing programs; introduce new programs when they are needed; and phase out old ones as they are proved redundant. As such, we are able to continue our focus on helping members of our society work to become healthier and enjoy better lives. The results that Centrecare gets for the people associated with your organisation are results which will have a direct and measurable effect on your bottom line.

Success today, when all is said and done, depends on teamwork. And when Centrecare is part of your team, you are assured of a team member committed to the development of the people who are important to your success. Every organisation has employees, clients, associates and constituents who can benefit from care and support at one time or another. Managers all over Australia are discovering substantial advantages in providing professional services, which are effective in reducing the impact personal crises and pain cause throughout their organisations. The flow-on benefits include improved employee productivity; better community and public relations; and greater client and stakeholder confidence. These rewards positively impact on growth and stability, and demonstrate positive and caring leadership. It's important for you to know what Centrecare can do for your organisation, so talk to us today about our programs and successes. And the possibilities.
